THE STORM LAST EVENING

Kept Thousands Away who Intended to patronize the Fair.

TO-DAY IS "MERCHANTS DAY"

And it is Likely that the Attendance Record for the Week Will be Established - The Wheelmen Will Have a Parade in the Evening and then Take in the Fair - Grafton Lodge Came in the Afternoon in a Body and Made a Fine Appearance. They Were Handsomely Entertained by the Wheeling Elks.

Although the severe wind and rain storm last evening between 6 and 8 o'clock kept thousands away from the Elks' street fair and oriental carnival, yet the attendance for the day was over 6,000, second only to that of Tuesday when the weather conditions were perfect. This showing indicates hit the Elks have made and would indicate, too, that the crowds to-day, Friday and Saturday, will be even larger.

Yesterday was "Elks' Day," and the brethren came in large numbers from all the surroundings towns. The best showing was made by the Grafton lodge, which came in two sleepers via the Baltimore & Ohio late in the afterneon and ran right into the shower. Though the rain brought all the color out of their purple-hued umbrellas and discolored their duck suits, the boys from Grafton were not discouraged and proceeded to enjoy themselves at the grounds last evening, having the assistance of a reception and entertain-ment committee from the Wheeling lodge that was nearly the entire lodge in point of numbers.

To-day is "Merchants' Day" and "Wheelmen's Night," and the double attraction bids fair to bring about the record breaking attendance for the week. With good weather, the 10,000 mark ought to be reached to-day.

THIS IS "MERCHANTS' DAY"

At the Street Fair and Many Establishment - Will Close

This is "Merchants' day" and "Wheel-men's night" at the Elks' street fair, and the indications are that the attendance will be the largest of the week Yesterday afternoon an agreement was circulated in the wholesale district on Main stret, and was generally signed. The agreement is that the wholesale establishments will be closed at noon. In addition, the retailers on Main and Market streets, between Tenth and Sixteenth streets, will close at noon. This gives about 3,000 people an after-noon and evening during which to visit the great entertainment provided for the Wheeling public this week by the grace of Wheeling lodge No. 28, B. P. O. E., and needless to state the opportunity will be taken advantage of generally. The programme for the day is as follows: ows: AFTERNOON-2 O'CLOCK.

Balloon Ascension by Madame Le Roy. EVENING-7:30 O'CLOCK.

EVENTAG-139 O'CLOCK.

Colored Cake Walk. Open to all comers.

of New York.

Musele by Little German Band.
In addition, it is "Wheelmen's night" at the fair, and the knights of the silent steed are preparing to take part in the big street demonstration called for this evening. The parade will go over the principal streets, and is to wind up at the street fair grounds. All the bicycle riders of this vicinity are invited to participate in the parade, which will be conducted by the Rough Riders' Cycle club. Riders having comic costumes are requested to wear them. The parade will start at 7 p. m. The route is as follows: Form on Eighteenth street, down Eighteenth to Chapline, up Chapline to Seventeenth, west on Seventeenth to Market, south on Market to Twenty-sirst to Main, down Main to Twenty-seventh, east on Twenty-seventh cast on Thirty-third, east on Thirty-third, east on Thirty-third, east on Thirty-third, west on Thirty-third, west on Thirty-third, west on Thirty-third to Chapline, up Chapline to Twenty-second, west on Twenty-second to Market, out to Thirty-third, west on Twenty-second, west on Twenty-second to Market, to Eighteenth west on Eighteenth over suspension bridge, west on Virginia to Broadway, south on Broadway, south on Broadway, south on Broadway to Eiks fair and disband. The parade will be in command of Thomas Garden.

THE HIT OF THE WEEK

Made by the Grafton Lodge Which Arrived in the Afternoon.

The hit of the week scored by visiting delegations to the fair was that achieved yesterday by Grafton lodge No. 308, B. P. O. E. This lodge struck the town forty strong about 4 p. m_{ψ} coming over the Baltimore & Ohio in two special coaches. The antiered monarchs were attired in suits of white duck, with white hats and carried purple umbrellas. They were accompanied by the Grafton brass band and a lively looking goat, who was decked out in Jooking golit, who was decked out in purple.

The Grafton brethren were met at the Baltimore & Ohio depot by Wheel-lodge's reception committee and escorted to the local lodge's palatial quarters on Main street. The visitors made a splendid appearance as they paraded the streets and were recipients of applause all along the line. After the inner man had been attended to they were escorted to the fair, the Opera-House band assisting in the musical diversion.

The Graftonites have two sleepers, which were side-tracked for their benefit. They are a Jolly crowd and will cut quite a figure. Colonel C. H. Straubacts as plenipotentiary and minister ex-cut quite a figure. Colonel C. H. Straub acts as plenipotentiarry and minister ex-traordinary in lieu of Exalted Ruler Joyce, who was unable to come, and another, shining star in the welcome invaders is Major T. A. Deveny. Accompanying the Grafton lodge are representatives of Mannington and Fairmont lodges. J. G. Lantz and H. L. Swisher are among the Morgantown-tos.

THE CROWD AT NIGHT

Exceeded all Expectations After the Storm in the Early Evening.

The isze of the crowd at night exceeded expectations. The most sanguine didn't look for such a throng after the showers that came down at intervals from 6 to 8 o'clock, but Jupiter Pluvius relented after his unwelcome outburst, and favored the Eliks with good weather for the remainder of the evening hours: Right after the rain ceased the crowds J. H. Masters, Fairmont; S. F. Mar-headed for the Island and tramped their way good naturedly over the muddy walks.

Along Exhibitors' Row the walking was "fairly tolluble," but pools of water and julcy clay were a terror to shoe polish in the animated Midway. A pleasure-seeking throng minds not such trilles, though, and the evening was one of the most enjoyable of the week. Fortunately, the rain didn't mar the beautiful displays in Exhibitors' Row, owing to the foresight of the progressive merchants therein exhibiting, and all the booths looked as attractive and pleasing to the eyes as on the balmiest of June nights.

The number of out-of-town Elks was the largest of the week and they paid due homage to the Midway, and the fabled Streets of Cairo. The donkey and camel rides were liberally patronized, likewise the Turkish theatre and the German village. In the latter quarter the success of previous entertainments was scored by the Tyrolese warblers, the strong men and Knoll and McNell, cornettists.

THE SPECIAL FEATURES

Yesterday Included the Wedding of Well Known Colored People.

Among the special features arranged for yesterday was an address by Judge Allen, of Birmingham, Ala., who was elected grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. E. two weeks ago at St. Louis. This was to have been made a big event at the street fair, and the receipt of a telegram from Judge Allen, stating the street fair, and the receipt of a telegram from: Judge Allen, stating that he would be unable to come to Wheeling on account of Illness, was generally regretted by the Wheeling and visiting Eliks who had counted on meeting the distinguished southerne. The other attraction arranged by the special features committee was the public wedding of well known colored people on the elevated stage. The contracting parties were W. H. Cupler and Mias Maggie Murray, and the officiating minister was Rev. Mr. Rummery, of the Simpson M. E. church. The ceremony was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd. Before the arrival of the couple there was a long wait, during which the Opera House band discoursed several concert selections. Finally, the carriages containing the bridal party were seen slowly making their way down Exhibitors' Row, and then the crowd gave a cheer. During the ceremony, however, the best of order was maintained.

THE HANDSOMEST DECORATIONS

In the City to be Seen at Heyman Brothers' Store and at Their Booth at the Fair.

Of all the outside displays and illuminations in the city, the finest and without doubt the one which attracts the greatest attention is that of Heyman Brothers, the popular clothiers, at the greatest attention is that of Heyman Brothers, the popular clothiers, at their place of business, corner Eleventh and Main streets. Farticularly is this true in the evenings, when their immense new electric sign, arranged expressly for this occasion, is illuminated. It is a wonder and a work of art in every detail. At the top is a large gilt American eagle defending two flags which he carries in his taions, below this the letters B. P. O. E. and Welcome Eiks, followed by the firm name, all in incandescent lights, purple and white. The sign is but a specimen of how the enterprising firm has decorated and trimmed their booth at the Street Carnival. The front of the booth is designed different from any to be seen on the grounds. The ordinary draping has been dispensed with, and the entire frame work carefully puffed with white cheese cloth, while the arches and circles are puffed with purple so, as to form a handsome and most effective relief, which shows that no pains or expense has been spared on its get-up. At the back of the booth a handsome glass case is placed, filled with the choicest of ready-to-wear clothing, for which theirm is farmed. In the centre and on the front ledge is arranged a handsome line of fine purple and white neckwear, together with a large display of the official Elke' hats, as well as a large assortment of furnishings representative of a first-class men's furnishing goods department.

of a first-class meas turnishing goods department.
Visitors to the city in need of anything in the clothing or gents' furnishing line would do well by visiting this establishment, corner Eleventh and Main streets.

Kirk.

The many visitors to the studio and store room at No. 1005 Main street, have been treated to a fine exhibition of art this week and have been made to feel that they are always welcome.

THEY MAKE STOGIES.

Hannan Brothers Have a Factory in Connection With Their Exhibit.

Those who have never seen cigara or stogies manufactured will have that fair, and the thousands who attended yesterday spent quite a little time tak-ing advantage of it. In Hannan Bros. booths is a full-fledged licensed eigar factory, and two eigar workers demonfactory, and two cigar workers demonstrate how the justly famous liannan Bros. Little Havanas are made. The booths are decorated as nearly complete as any at the fair, and the tissue decorations of purple and white blended beautifully, and the hundreds of electric lights make an effect that is truly bewitching. Surmounting the whole scene is one of the best electric signs ever seen in the city. There are 250 incandescent lights in the sign, and the result can easily be imagined. For the benefit of his patrons Mr. Charles Hannan has decided to keep his citars and atogies on sale during the fair, and a man can see his stogies made before he smokes.

REAUTIFUL FLOWERS And Rare Plants Form the Attractive

Display of Max Hess at the Street

The lovers of flowers and plants who visit the Street Carnival are delighted with the excellence of the display made by Max L. Hess, the well known florist by Max L. Hess, the well known florist and decorator. The fragrance of hundreds of cut flowers and plants attract the visitor's attention to Mr. Hess' booth, and, when once attracted, the beholder is not in a hurry to pass it by. Besides being tastefully draped with bunting, potted plants of a rare character are distributed about in an artistic manner. One of these which is particularly attractive is a fine large Yucca in the midst of a fine specimen of blooming roses and spireas. Beautiful hanging baskets are displayed in profusion, and in all the exhibit is one of the best on the street.

on the street.
The counter is lined with cut flowers, carnations, sweet pens and, in fact, all kinds of beauties are for sale. Mr. Hess makes a specialty of design work, bedding plants and shrubbery. His 'phone number is 1632.

A PROMINENT ELK.

Mr. Will Gutman's Exhibit a Complete and Attractive One.
One of the most enthusiastic members of Wheeling Lodge No. 28, B. P. O. E., is Mr. Will Gutman, the popular hatter and gents' furnishing goods man, and it was natural for him to try to excel in the decoration of his booth at the Street Carnival, and that he succeeded is attested by all who have visited the big show this week. Bunting was never more tastefully arranged, nor was a finer line of gentlemen's furnishings ever displayed than is shown here. Shirts, collars, cuffs, gloves, ties, outling hats and caps, and in fact every frem that goes toward making an exhibit of this kind complete.

A handsome American flag is draped over the entrance to the booth, and Japanese Innerns, tissue chains, etc., lead an enchantment to the place that it beautiful. At Mr. Gutman's store, No. 1211 Market street, there is also a neat decoration that is attracting general attention. hatter and gents' furnishing goods man,

AT THE WEDGWOOD.

Pretty and Appropriate Souvenirs of the Street Carnival to be Had.

There is no display at the Elks' big show which delights the ladies, or attracts the eye of the lovers of art in china, more than The Wedgwood, and china, more than The Wedgwood, and many are the visitors who step long enough to look at and admire the rare and delicatly made table ware, ornamental goods and tollet ware, etc. The ornamental goods are particularly sought after by the visitors, and the very low price asked for figures, vases, cups and saucers and plates of china, bisque or wedgwood induces many a one to take home a souvenir that will always be appreciated.

The booth is presided over by Mrs. C. Foster, who has lately opened a salesroom at No. 1968 Main stre', where can always be found a full line of the very best of this class of goods at the lowest prices. The Wedgwood ware has become a fad and a beautiful one. It has taken the place of bisque to a great extent, and as the name of Mrs. Foster's store indicates, she makes a specialty of this ware.

Figure in the Fine Display Made by Tappan and Connel - Excellent Tappan and Co Work Exhibited.

The members of Wheeling lodge No. 28, B. P. O. E., feel under obligations to Mr. George W. Connel, of the firm of Tappan & Connel, for the way in which Tappan & Connel, for the way in which he remembered the lodge in his decoration of the firm's booth at the street carnival. In the display of high-class photography, for which Tappan & Connel are noted, Mr. Connel made a feature of portraits of the members, of which he has photographed over ninety per cen'. A large pastel of Exalted Ruler Chas. Schmidt is in the center, and around the sides and down the center supporting pent are arranged cabinet photos of the many members. Beside these are exhibited portraits of many of Wheeling's most prominent clitzens, in pastel, crayon, water colors and sepia.

Tappan & Connel have justly earned the réputation of being the leaders in photography in Wheeling, and the exhibits made at their gallery, 1121 Main street and at their booth are worthy of the highest praise.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

Of the Finest Brands Are Shown in Kraus & Co.'s Exhibit.

A fine display of the finest brands of wines and liquors is that made by Kraus & Co. at their booth at the street carnival. The booth is very nicely trimand decorated, and the jugs, barrels and bottles are arranged in a most rels and bottles are arranged in a most artistic manner. The brands made a specialty of by the firm are Mountain State, Old Cabinet, West Virginia Pioneer and Export Jones, all of which are especially adapted for family use and medicinal purposes.

A full line of these and other high-class brands of wines, liquors, cordials, etc., can always be found at the firm's salesrooms, 1133 Market street.

TRUNKS AND BAGS.

The Schwertfeger Company's Display

a Fine One.

The Schwertfeger Manufacturing Company, of which Mr. William Schwertfeger is the head, has the best display of trunks, traveling bags, leather goods, etc., ever seen in the city. The booth is a very attractive one, made so by the tasteful decora one, made so by the Insteful decora-tions, the quality of the goods and the meaner in which they are arranged. The large wooden horse which has be-come such a familiar figure to the passers by at the salesrooms, No. 1146 and 1148 Main street, occupies a prom-inent position, monarch of all he sur-veys. In a case are shown fancy lea-ther goods of all kinds, such as pocket-ther goods of all kinds, such as pocket-books, eigar cases, collar and cuff boxes, etc., and on too of the case is an books, eight cases, collar and cuff boxes, etc., and on top of the case is an

A Real Indian Wedding To-night.

The rain last night nearly drove the Indians out of their quarters on the Midway, and in order to show, the dance had to be given over in a corner of the space occupied by them. This fact did not keep the crowd out, however, as thousands visited the village during the evening.

Owing to a superstition the Indians have, not to marry when it rains, the wedding of the brave to his pretty squaw was postponed until to-night at 8 o'clock, when it will surely take place. A Real Indian Wedding To-night.

A matter which escaped notice was the fact that the trappings of all the horses in Monday's parade were uniform. The bridle and martingale was white, with purple rosettes and the saddle blanket purple broadcloth, trimmed with white felt. They were furnished by Schwertfeger.

Mayor Sweeney issued a proclamation, asking all business people to observe a half holiday this afternoon in order that their employes may have an opportunity to visit the fair. The response has been most gratifying, all of the wholesalers and a majority of the retail people agreeing to close their stores this afternoon.
